Kristina M. Johnson, Provost, Johns Hopkins University

IDEA FORUMS

3:10 p.m. – 5:20 p.m.

You are invited to attend two one-hour panel discussions:

LOOKING EAST

Power—from economic and military to artistic and intellectual—is no longer centered in the United States and Europe. As Asian nations assume a larger role on the world stage, how will the U.S. engage and/or parry this newfound prominence?

MEDICAL HORIZONS

Hopkins clinicians, researchers, and educators are breaking new ground in top-priority fields like cancer, the brain sciences, computational medicine, and pediatrics. Join us for a panel discussion on the ways that medicine and technology are being used to improve, and ultimately save, lives.

CLOSING SESSION

5:30 p.m. – 6:00 p.m.

Students and patients share on film how Johns Hopkins transformed their lives and how they now plan to change the world.

COCKTAILS

6:00 p.m. – 7:00 p.m.

Mix and mingle with Hopkins leaders, presenters, alumni, and friends.

The President and Trustees of the Johns Hopkins University and Johns Hopkins Medicine invite you to participate in a day of discovery.
